

Questions on next to of course god america i by E.E. Cummings:

1. Is it significant that the only terminal punctuation in the man's speech is the concluding question mark?
2. In what tone are the man's words spoken? Comic? Sarcastic? Sincere? Angry?
3. Much of what the man says refers to language. How does this relate to his own use of language?