This second paper is due October 18th, 2017.

In this paper, consider the representation of technology in Ray Bradbury's The Veldt versus the representation of technology in Jennifer Egan's Black Box. How does technology change society and shape the futures each author imagines? Consider the elements of utopia and / or dystopia that are found in each story. Does technology create a utopia or dystopia along with technology's unintended consequences? Explore the above in a four to six page typed paper, double spaced, font size no larger than size 12.
